Truthfully, anything can go viral on the internet. Whether it's a photo, an animation, an article, a quote, a tweet, a person, an animal, an idea, an argument, a coupon, an event, or anything else -- it has the power to go viral if it appeals enough to the masses and is shareable. While going viral is a relatively simple concept, defining the threshold or benchmark for when something has actually gone viral is complicated. Oct 26, · Viral means becoming extremely popular in a very short amount of time. Often for something to be considered viral it needs to make its way . Viral videos can turn formerly-unknown YouTube users into Internet celebrities overnight. Having a video go viral is promotion that marketers wish they could buy. Unfortunately, the very nature of going viral means that you can't predict what will go viral and you can't just make it happen.

"go viral" - used in reference to Internet content which can be passed through electronic mail and social networking sites (Facebook, etc.): an image, video, or link that spreads rapidly through a population by being frequently shared with a number of individuals has 'gone viral'. Christianity Today () The video has gone viral, with many praising the passers-by for intervening. Times, Sunday Times () Footage showing the mayor being hauled off by police, some of them wearing masks, quickly went viral on social media. A viral video is a video that becomes popular through a viral process of Internet sharing, typically through video sharing websites, social media and email. [4] [5].
